

To whom it may concern:

Net neutrality is an important issue to me as a consumer of many things on the internet, such as media and information. As a small business owner, the thought of an ISP company potentially slowing down the loading of my company's web content for potential users or customers because an competitor has a financial relationship with that ISP is abhorrent. Please maintain net neutrality for the benefit of individuals as well as so as to keep accessing information on the internet more fair for the future.

Best,

Jennifer Decker
Chicago, IL